A PLEASANT entertainment for a few friends is called a "quotation party." When the invitations are given the request accompanies them that the recipient will come to the party with three quotations memorized. When these quotations are given the name of the author is to be given by anyone of the company who can do so. The one who first guesses or gives the name receives a favor, usually a flower; if this is not practicable a bit of narrow bright ribbon that can be tied in the button-hole is substituted.

A DESPATCH from Flemingsburg says: A few days ago two strangers came to the house of Thomas J. Graham, near here, and represented that they wished to buy his farm. He priced it at $2,500. They left, but on Thursday they returned and said they would take it, and offered in payment three $1,000 bills. Graham did not have $500 in change and came to this place and got the money. On his return he was met by the parties and a third party, and upon producing the money they collared him, robbed him and struck out, leaving Graham terrified by threats. They came from Mayfield, as the horse they drove was recognized as a Mayfield animal.

And had studied domestic economy,
Went to state at the sink,
And as quick as a wink
She sat down to study astronomy.

The Southern Champion.

ROBERT E. Morningstar, who is to-day one of the foremost scientific skaters of America, began his skatorial career as member of the Exposition Rink, Louisville, Ky., and although he has gained an enviable reputation in the skatorial world, he still retains a love for amateur games. He is a gentleman who makes hosts of friends, and when once known, the acquaintance is never regretted by any one who meets him.

Mr. Morningstar was born February 19th, 1864, and is consequently twenty-one years of age. At an early age he acquired a great desire for athletic sports, and besides roller skating he is an expert on the bicycle, at swimming, rowing, etc.

December 3rd, 1881, he for the first time attempted roller skating, and rapidly became an expert. After three months practice he entered his first contest and was defeated by a very close decision of the judges. This defeat strengthened his determination to gain honors, and also met his victorious competitor March 10th, 1882, this being his first victory. Since then he has been in many contests, meeting some of the finest experts in the country; he has only been defeated in one, and has more medals than his vest front will accommodate, to testify to his ability as an exceedingly wonderful skater.

When polo first became a craze, Mr. Morningstar organized and was elected captain of the first Polo club of Louisville, which in its second year of existence won the championship of the National Polo League. He was also a member of the first company of roller skating rifles, and drum-major of the American roller skating band, the first organization of the kind in America. Mr. Morningstar has had a "commercial tourist" for the past three years, during which time he has visited all the principal cities of the United States. He is at present with the Crescent Roller Skate Company, of Indianapolis, which produces the best roller skate made. It has a world wide reputation and is selected by the leading skaters of the country.

The Rink was crowded again last evening, many of the best citizens of the city being in attendance. The music was good, and the audience seemed delighted with the entertainment. Mr. E. Morningstar, the champion fancy roller skater of the South, appeared, and between 9 and 10 o'clock gave an exhibition of the difficult feats to be performed on rollers. It is impossible to describe with any degree of accuracy the different steps in fancy skating performed by Mr. Morningstar. They have to be seen to be understood. He was loudly applauded during the performance. He will appear again to-day and Wednesday.

Henry Cheneveth makes a bold "Pirate" but he hasn't picked up the courage yet to rollers.

Mrs. T. A. Davis and Miss Mollie Edmund were there and seemed delighted with the entertainment.

Her maiden name was Mary Belle Maybryer, and she achieved local notoriety several years ago by stabbing almost unto death John Brown, alias son of Sheriff Brown, while returning from Mayfield on Colonel Hurst's wagon. She has a boy child, and probably not over twenty-one or twenty-two years old."

THE MYSTIC CLICK.

A Kentucky Operator of the First of the Kentucky Telephone Co. without the aid of the Printed Do's and Dashes—Reminiscence of a Veteran.

(Correspondence of the Louisville Times.)

FRANKFORT, February 22.—Writers on telegraphy represent that sound reading or the system of receiving messages by telephone is the most rapid method of clicking instrument was first used by the American operator in 1850. Managers of the line at that time were not disposed to adopt the system, which they believed would be more intricate and expensive, and continued to use the older operator, whom they found in receiving messages without the aid of the Morse register. Of course everybody knows now that the sounder has almost entirely superseded the recording apparatus, proving the superiority of the sound reading system of transmission is doubled, while the portion of errors is largely diminished, and not many people outside of the veteran operators know that a Frankfort boy was the first to receive a message by telephone in the last issue of the New York Telegraphers' Advocate, written by Colonel Charles E. Taylor, manager of the Western Union office of this city, gives the following interesting information:

"In the spring of 1858 the first telephone line, the New Orleans and Ohio, from Washington via Baltimore and Wheeling to New Orleans, passed through Frankfort, Ky. An office was opened on the 1st of March, and made the terminus until the line reached Louisville. E. H. Goulding of Worcester, Mass., was the first operator, followed by Robert Taylor messenger. The first message was sent in Albany, N. Y., as early as May 1, 1847, but Leonard was a practical sound-reader in the summer of 1848, and regarded that by Reid as a remarkable achievement.

"The experiment four years after the first experiment of the Morse system on the line between Baltimore and Washington, in 1844, over which the first message transmitted by wire was sent, took place in 1851, when R. B. Taylor, after getting warm, is a common attendant, after getting warm, is a common attendant, to the application of Dr. Bosanac's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, stretching and affecting a permanent cure. This Slugger from Boston, and Abuses His Pipe.

BOSTON, March 3.—Mr. John L. Sullivan is authority for the statement that the champion has become addicted to opium smoking. Some of her stories of abuse of his habit are horrible. She says that he once became ill with pain on a sleeping car on his last western trip. He said to her, "I am not ill, but I have leg ulcers that he killed her legs above the ankle until the blood ran down into her shoes. She nearly fainted, but rather than expose him to public opinion, she did not make so much as a suffocation.
